COLLEGE GETS CUT HALF IN MONEY BILLS

More Than 50% Reduction Made in Bill Passed Friday

BILL TO GOVERNOR

Several Positions are Cut From State Pay Roll

Appropriations for W. T. during the coming two years were finally provided by the legislature Friday afternoon when both houses of the legislature agreed upon the free conference bill.

The first free conference was rejected by the House on Thursday, and the committee instructed to reduce the amounts to be allowed the colleges of the state. The second report was made Friday, after the free conference had reduced the bill more than $306,000. This was adopted by both the House and the Senate. The bill was finally signed by the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor on Monday and sent to the Governor. It is believed that the Governor will sign the bill without a veto as she has the other appropriation bills. All appropriations have been reduced more than the 25% which the Fergusons demanded during the campaign last year.

W. T. will receive $146,827 for the first year and $135,717 for the second year of the biennium. This is considerable more than a fifty per cent reduction in the school's appropriation granted during the past six pears. The total for 1931-32 was $307,074, and for the present year it is $290,660. This institution was given the third largest cut of the 17 colleges in the state; Kingsville and Alpine were likely reduced more than 50% by the bill which was largely dictated by the appropriations committee of the House.

Eleven full time positions and four part time positions for W. T. were eliminated in the bill. Two positions which had been cared for from the local fund were added to the state appropriations, thus reducing the faculty on state appropriations with nine full positions, and all part time positions which have been allowed in the past.

Salaries were reduced on the main 25%, but many of them were lowered a larger per cent.

Summer school for 1934 was provided for the bill with $11,110, which is the same as allowed last week for the summer school for the present summer. This is a reduction from $35,000 which has been allowed in past summer sessions. No provision was made for the summer session of 1935 since the legislature will convene before that time.

Provision is made in the appropriation bills that fees for both the summer and regular fees may be increased by the colleges. It was upon the theory that the students were not paying a sufficient amount of the cost of the colleges that the appropriations were so deeply cut, and at the same time fees were raised.

Dr. J. A. Hill is making plans to administer W. T. efficiently under the lowered appropriation bill which was passed. He was expecting a reduction in the money bills for the coming two years, but did not anticipate so drastic reductions as were administered by the legislature.

The decorating committee was composed of Mrs. G. A. Farlow, Mrs. R. B. Davis, Mrs. H. O. Price, R. B Davis, J. B. Fowler, and H. O. Price.

Progress Made On Palo Duro Project

SUMMER WORK WILL START NEXT MONDAY

Good Attendance Is In Prospect For the Quarter

HILL AT AUSTIN

Demand For Houses In City Indicates the Attendance

The plant of the College will be a busy place the remainder of this week with preparations for the summer session being made. Enrollment for the two summer terms will begin early Monday morning with the regular faculty on hand to meet students and assist them in every way to make their programs for the summer.

Interviewed before he left Tuesday Dr. Hill said that he believed the summer school attendance would be good, and the college offices have been receiving many inquiries regarding the work.

Many rumors have been spread to the effect that there would be no summer school here this summer, but the college and the business men of Canyon have done all they possibly could to combat these reports throughout the territory. President Hill and the faculty have agreed that the summer school must go on this year in order to enable teachers who have planned work to get it.

Since the college is changing in the fall to the semester plan it is expected that a great many students will come this summer to complete courses before this change is made. It is also thought that many high school graduates who cannot secure their usual summer employment will use the three months to do work in shorthand and typing thus making their college work easier later on.

Householders say that apartments and rooms are in demand, and some students have already arrived in town. The offices of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women are being kept busy directing people who are making inquiries about living quarters for the summer.

175 Crop Loans Have Been Asked for Randall Farms

The local committee of the Crop Production Loan Office of the Secretary of Agriculture has received applications for about 175 loans to Randall County farmers in the past two weeks. The time limit for making the spring crop loans expired yesterday. There has been an extension of time on the wheat loans. However the County Agent's office will not be open all the time for making the applications after Saturday of this week. Arrangements for making applications for loans after Saturday must be made through some member of the local committee.

J. B. Elliston Is Named Assistant to State Chairman

Developments of the past week toward the ultimate establishment of the Palo Duro Park in the canyon has been most satisfactory. Indications are that unless some unforeseen handicaps arise, that the federal government and the State Park Board will start actual construction within a short period of time.

The national park board has accepted the project and recommended it to the President. It is expected he will officially sign the order for four work camps during this week.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Park Board, has appointed J. B. Elliston of Canyon as his assistant to have charge of the Palo Duro project. Mr. Colp has also named Col. Oscar A. Seward of Amarillo as chief engineer.

Mr. Elliston returned Monday from Austin and together with Col. Seward has been making a survey of the Palo Duro seeking camp sites, and locating the roads.

Leo McDade is locating well sites, and planning the water supply system for the two camps to be established first.

J. O. Guieke returned Monday from Washington feeling that the project is assured.

The Texas legislature passed the bill Saturday making it possible for the Park Board to borrow money from the R. F. C. The bill was signed by Governor Ferguson Monday, and will reach Washington today where applications for funds was recently made by Fred A. Emory and Mr. Colp.

Inch of Rain in County Falls in the Past Week

In addition to the .73 inch rain of last Wednesday, Randall county received 1.07 inches of moisture on Thursday, Friday and Monday, making the total rainfall for this period 1.80 inches.

The rain of Friday amounted to .85; on Friday a light shower of .05 fell; on Monday there was added .22.

The wind has held to the southeast with good indications for additional moisture.

Enthusiastic reports are being received as to the possibilities of wheat. The rains have been greatly beneficial to the crop, and the crop which is left has developed wonderfully during the past week.

DRESS CONTEST SLATED AT W. T. WEDNESDAY

Club Women of County to Participate in the Contest

STATE OFFICER HERE

Interest Shown in Contest by Randall Clubs

A House Dress Contest is being planned by the members of the County Home Demonstration Clubs and the 4-H Club girls for the afternoon of Wednesday, June 7, according to an announcement by Miss Sadie Kate Bass, county demonstration agent. The contest will be held at 1 o'clock in the main auditorium of the administration building of the college.

For the past two months the club women have been engaged in making foundation garments and in learning to use them. In the dress contest the women are modeling the dresses made by the foundation patterns. Most of these dresses will be street or neighborhood dresses.

Mrs. Dora Barnes, Extension specialist in clothing from A. & M. College who conducted a foundation pattern school in this county last August, and Miss Mary Sitton, home demonstration agent of Potter County, will judge the entries. The dresses will be scored by the following points: suitability of garment to purpose, material and trimming, originality, (beauty and interest of design), workmanship, appearance on person, laundering possibilities and pressing.

The wardrobe demonstrators from the various clubs will also score the garments, using the folowing points: complete books and records of work done on garments, picture of clothes closet before and after improvements, foundation pattern, dress.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the contest.

47 Are Named Notary Public, Qualify Today

Randall County will have 47 different people commissioned as notary publics if all qualify today. The appointments are made by the Governor, as recommended by the Senate.

Youth To Preach At Revival Series

JAMES D. WILLIFORD

The annual revival meeting of the Church of Christ will begin next Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock and will continue for two weeks. Services will be held twice daily during this period at the church. Third Avenue at 17th Street, at 10:30 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

The preaching will be done by James D. Williford, 17-year-old evangelist from the Boles Orphans Home at Greenville. This will be the first time in the history of Canyon that a youth has conducted a series of evangelistic services. Visitors are expected from all sections of the Panhandle to hear the young evangelist.

Mr. Williford comes with a reputation of being a natural orator, and a platform speaker of unusual ability. He is said to readily win his way into the hearts of his hearers through the kindness and simplicity that characterizes his messages. His memory of the scriptures is such that he seldom carries a Bible into the pulpit.

The hymnal services will be in charge of Rev. E. C. McKenzie, minister of the church. Congregational singing will be a feature of the series of services. Mr. McKenzie cordially invites all of the citizens of Canyon to attend all of the services, which are held for the general spiritual betterment of Canyon and not merely for the good of the church which is sponsoring the revival.

DAIRYMEN PETITION FOR INCREASE OF MILK PRICES

Directors of the Randall County Dairymen's Association petitioned Tuesday night the buyers of milk in Amarillo, asking for an increase in the price of raw milk.

THE BOY WHO MADE GOOD

Commencement Will Close W. T. Session

A. W. Hancock, aged 80 years, died yesterday morning at 3:15 o'clock. He was gassed at his home several months ago while sitting before an open gas stove. His foot was extended against the stove and was badly burned. He never recovered from the accident.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Church of Christ, of which he has been a member for several years, conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. C. McKenzie.

Mr. Hancock has been a highly respected citizen of Canyon for the past 31 years. He was a member of the Masonic lodge, which will assist in the funeral services.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Clara Layman of Hereford, Mrs. Pete Jones of Hereford, Mrs. Bertie Strain of Canyon. His twin sister, Mrs. D. G. Suderth, lives at Leonard, and a half brother, Early Story, at Dallas.

Test Oil Well Spudded In Saturday in County

The Devore and Woolsey test well northeast of Canyon was spudded in Saturday afternoon with a large crowd from Amarillo, Canyon and other Panhandle towns as witnesses to the sixth test started in the county.

It is stated by oil experts that there have been few wildcats in any county that started out with better equipment than the Woolsey & Devore No. 1 Oxnard. The derrick is an 86-foot Lee C. Moore, one of the best built. The tools are the select from 14 strings owned by Woolsey and the Devores. The power plant is a 15-ton Diesel engine that will handle a string of tools to a 6,500 foot depth if necessary, and do it on about $1.50 fuel a day. The operators have the services of some of the best drillers and tool men in the Panhandle. In fact, conditions are ideal for a thorough test in a very reasonable length of time.

The existence of this structure has been known for several years by some of the major oil companies and, in fact, several have held leases in the area since 1930 and still have them. Only the bit can tell the tale, but the probability of hitting on a block of 20,000 acres is well worth the gamble.

40,000 Pounds of Certified Seed Are Sold to Farmers

The County Agent has distributed a little over 40,000 pounds of State Certified Grain Sorghum seed to farmers of Randall County in the past few weeks. This seed is bought every year with funds furnished through the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and the First National Bank of Canyon. It is distributed to farmers at wholesale cost, thus effecting a saving of something like $250 to the farmers who take advantage of this opportunity to secure the best possible planting seed. The saving in the purchase price of the seed is only a fraction of the benefits of the co-operative good seed movement in Randall county, according to farmers who planted the certified seed last year. The growth of this work for the past five years is shown by the figures on the amount of certified seed distributed through the County Agent's office. 7,500 pounds was distributed in 1929; 14,600 in 1930; 18,00 in 1931; 30,000 in 1932 and 40,000 in 1933.

In addition to the seed sold to farmers at cost, seed has been furnished free to about 50 boys with which to plant 5 acres or more each.

No more seed is available for this year, as the entire supply has been sold to the farmers.

Mrs. Marion Foote and daughter of Hooker, Okla., visited the past week at the Rev. C. W. Foote home and with her cousin, Mrs. Marion Bishir.

TECH PREXY TALKS TODAY TO GRADUATES

EXES IN LUNCHEON

Commencement Activities Are Brought at End This P. M.

For eighty-one members of the spring graduating class of the West Texas State Teachers College the final event of a busy Commencement week took place at 10:00 o'clock today when degrees were conferred by Dr. R. P. Jarrett, Dean of the College, in the absence of Dr. J. A. Hill, the President.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological College, delivered the Commencement address urging the seniors to hold fast to their sense of intangible values when too much emphasis is being placed upon things material.

Saturday marked the beginning of commencement activities at the College. Class day exercises, mingling dignity and farce, gave the seniors an opportunity to bequeath their privileges to the junior class and to present to the College the class gift. This took the form of several beautiful cases to further equip the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum which has received the support of college students since its conception.

Lovely gifts were also given by the class to Miss Mary Morgan Brown, who directed the class play and to Professor and Mrs. Stuart H. Condron, the former the class sponsor over a period of four years. Keith Guthrie, of Hereford, presided at the class day program, and the farce burlesquing college life was written by Gene Elo of Amarillo and Jake Harrison of Canyon.

Bishop Seaman in Baccalaureate

Sunday morning's Baccalaureate service was marked by the solemnity and dignity imparted by the academic robes of the seniors and faculty and those of Bishop E. Cecil Seaman who delivered the sermon.

In congratulating the seniors Bishop Seaman declared that a degree is a badge of discipline, indicating that its possessor has passed through training for leadership. He congratulated the group that their health had been sufficient for their needs; that wealth was not needed to secure a college education; and that they could attend a college near home and small enough to enable them to know their instructors. He expressed the hope that the young people of the Panhandle should always be able to secure their college educations within the region.

In his sermon he pointed out that leaders derive peace and power in direct proportion to their ability to follow Christ in thought and word and deed. He said, "You are living in an age which cries for a leadership which will not allow things that ought to be changed to stay as they are. This is the challenge today."

LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES

Unless the unforeseen happens, the 43rd Legislature will come to a close today. It will be the longest continuous session in the history of the state. A large body of the citizenship of Texas condemn the legislature with having accomplished little during this session, and the usual words of disgust are being expressed by the voters. The voters do not appreciate the fact that they are kicking themselves in the pants when they criticise the legislature and other public officials of the nation, state, county, or city. The public officials are elected by the voters, and are usually about the kind of officials that the voters wish.

The News is of the opinion that the legislature has done about all that it could have under existing conditions. It has not destroyed the government, whereas a lot of people in the state would have been perfectly willing to see the whole thing blow up, and most any thing set up in its stead.

The educational system is left in tact, although some of the colleges, including W. T., suffered very greatly in the way of appropriations. The little fellow always gets it in the neck and unfortunately W. T. is one of the small institutions, and one with the least political power.

The legislature refused to disrupt the functions of state government, and the governor decided against disrupting these features through the power of the veto in spite of the report from the Graves committee, and the strong backing of the Dallas News and other daily newspapers. The legislature decided it was not ready to so thoroughly renovate the departments of government, basing its remodeling upon the report of this committee. However, it profited by the report of the committee in making some savings for the state, and the report will act for a basis of other changes which will be effected in the future.

The Dallas News is very outspoken against the legislature for not having accepted the Graves report and followed it to the letter. It advocates putting out candidates for the legislature next year who will pledge in advance to accept the report and pass laws strictly following the recommendation. This means that the Dallas News would turn out the present legislature and elect a new bunch. If there is any one great weakness with the legislature, it is the constant turn-over in the membership. Composed of more than 50% new members this session, the legislature was not sufficiently acquainted with the workings of the state government to pass measures so radical in nature. The turn-over has been 50% or more in the past three legislatures. It is no wonder that the new members hesitate in radical action once they get a fleeting glimpse of the state governmental machinery and a close-up of its workings. During the campaign the whole thing looks easy and the way clear; but when the new member arrives in Austin, if he is sufficiently wise to be a legislator, he is forced to change his mind about a lot of things.

Without doubt the legislature is greatly handicapped by the lengthened sessions. The constitutional amendment increasing the session from 60 to 120 days was a grave mistake. The last two sessions, working under this arrangement, has clearly shown this mistake. The lengthened session has caused a disposition to loaf too much during the first 60 days, with members introducing hundreds of bills which have little or no chance of passage; with committees passing out these bills with little or no consideration; with the usual jam during the closing days when the real meritorious bills are cut off with no action. We believe that it would be infinitely better to return to the 60 day session, and let the governor call extra sessions to pass upon urgent measures. In this manner the governor is able to direct the action of the legislature in passing necessary laws, and at much less expense to the state.

So far as increasing the pay is concerned, the $10 per day has brought out more young candidates and more old ones than ever before. The present legislature eliminated the middle age members. $5 per day is too little to pay expenses at Austin. However, $10 is more than the taxpayers should be paying under present conditions. A compromise of $7.50 or $8 per day is due the legislators, and is in keeping with the manner in which the legislature itself reduced the pay of other state employes.

With the complex problems facing the state; with economic conditions in choas; with the uncertainty in governmental affairs all over the world, the present membership, inexperienced as it was, has done about as much as could be expected.

It is very unlikely that the state will be burdened with the large number of special sessions such as Governors Moody and Sterling called, since the Fergusons are opposed to special sessions.

Tackling the big bankers shows very clearly that President Roosevelt is afraid of no man. His tactics are very largely those of Teddy Roosevelt who successfully handled the big stick with the big bankers. When Roosevelt kicked Jimmie Walker out of New York the American people realized he was unafraid of the powers that be; his method of going after all big problems has strengthened this conviction, and given him the unqualified support of all political parties in America.

So, J. P. Morgan has paid no income tax the past two years. That should be a fine lesson to Texas. It seems that the big fellow, the one who should be paying an income tax, is always the one who manages to escape it. The poor devil with the little income which he cannot manipulate is the one who pays. The same thing would be true of a state income tax.

Fashion once was the art of putting things on, but now it is the art of taking them off.

Mrs. C. R. Burrows entertained the Book Club Ladies this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wallace of Oklahoma City were visitors in town Tuesday.

Frank Ames has sold his residence in the eastern part of town to G. S. Ballard for $3500.

Mayor Marrs of Amarillo, says that town must be cleaned up and kept clean. No more wast paper and other rubbish is to be allowed thrown upon the streets or in any back alleys. Such measures are badly needed in some other Plains towns as well as Amarillo.

Misses Beulah and Leona McWhirter of Greenville are expected to arrive Sunday for a visit with their sister, Mrs. Albert S. Rollins.

R. G. Kirsch, the architect whose plans were adopted for the new courthouse, arrived Monday returning to St. Louis Wednesday. His firm has the contract for the building and he will return here, he says, to begin the work in a week or ten days.

Canyon City Odd Fellows with the aid of the Hereford degree team, organized a Rebekah lodge here Tuesday night with 48 members. The officers elected are as follows: R. A. Terrill, noble grand; Mrs. Maud Nixon, vice grand; Mrs. A. N. Henson, secretary, and Mrs. J. Frank Smith, treasurer.

The contract for building Randall county's new court house has been let to R. G. Kirsch & Co. of St. Louis at the sum of the guaranteed cost, $53,500. Work is to begin within ten days after contract is signed and approved by the board and the completion of the building is timed as January first next.

Mrs. B. T. Johnson, her daughter, Miss Bessie, and son, Walter, came in Wednesday evening from the commencement exercises at Goodnight college. Walter graduated in the literary department and Miss Bessie was awarded the medal in elocution.

As soon as the builders' bond is made and approved, the old courthouse is to be moved to "one side" and arranged for occupancy until the new one is ready to go into. This within itself will cost considerable as the vault and flues will have to be rebuilt. It would be far better to leave the old one where it now is and erect the new courthouse in some other place. The News sometime ago referred to this matter, but somehow it did not strike the people as the proper thing to do.

Robert E. Lee Chapter U. D. C. will entertain the Veterans and their wives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Knight from 8 to 10.30 p. m., Tuesday, June 2, in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis on the 3rd of June. All Confederate veterans and their families are cordially invited to attend.

Select Suave Sport Styles for Summer

COTTON KNITS, LINEN, PIQUE, OTHER COTTON MATERIALS AND CHALK CREPE IN PASTEL TONES ARE POPULAR

BY HARRIET

SPORTS clothes are practically an indispensable part of a well-planned summer wardrobe.

You may not be an ardent golfer or an expert tennis player but that doesn't mean you won't want at least one smart sports outfit for weekends and your vacation.

Materials for sports and for spectator sports are simply devastating this summer. Suave knitted outfits, linen dresses which don't wrinkle every time you move, pique and a variety of other cotton materials all go to make sports clothes real innovations. Chalk crepe in delicate pastel tones runs a close second to knitted and cotton materials.

If you intend to be only a spectator at sports events there is no reason in the world why your vacation clothes can't be worn on the street and to the office later. Knitted suits and linen dresses with matching jackets will be seen everywhere this summer. Even pique tennis dresses will come in handy later if they have little capes to cover your back and shoulders.

There are many styles. Shirtwaist frocks are important on the golf course. For spectator sports they are shown in crepes and heavy sheers and for active sports in pin-striped broadcloth, printed linen, pastel pique. Knitted versions of shirtwaist dresses are important for both active and spectator sports.

Sleeveless and backless dresses with novelty scarfs are going to grace the tennis courts. These are sold, for the most part, with little matching capes or jackets. It is convenient to have something to put around your shoulders after you have finished a game and besides a jacket or scarf makes a tennis dress suitable for spectator sports.

Pique, linen and chalk crepe are the highlight materials for tennis.

For yachting, the races and for general spectator sports wear, the knitted costume leads. These are no longer the bulky ensembles they used to be. Knitted skirts with knitted polo shirts worn with white kid shoes and white fabric hats make admirable ensembles. So do knitted dress and jacket outfits complemented by T-strap kid sandals and panama hats.

The knitted two-piece beige dress at left uses a perfectly plain skirt and a polo shirt with crew neckline, trimmed with brown belt and white glass buttons down the front. A modified white linen sailor and white kid pumps complete the ensemble. At left is a two-piece white knitted costume with matching jacket, worn with a panama hat and T-strap kid sandals.

ULTRA smart for suburban or country club wear is a knitted two-piece beige dress. The skirt is perfectly plain and the polo shirt with crew neckline tucks into the skirt at the normal waistline. A brown belt and white glass buttons down the front of the shirt make interesting trimming.

A modified sailor of white linen tops the costume and white kid pumps trimmed in brown like the belt completes the accessory ensemble.

You'll hold your own on the porch of a country club and present a charming picture on the sidelines of any sports tourament if you wear this two-piece white knitted costume with matching jacket. The blouse has a surplus front which is very flattering to the mature figure.

Dump Milk in Dairy Strike

Despite postponement of the national farm strike called by the Farmers' Holiday Association, Wisconsin dairy farmers went ahead with their plans to strike for higher prices. Strike pickets in Kenosha county, Wis., are shown above as they dumped milk from the truck of Frank E. Welsch of Kansasville, Kan., which they had seized just after it had crossed the county line, en route to Chicago.

BARGAIN DIZZY

Buying is bewildering these days. The windows and shelves of many stores are filled with unfamiliar packages bearing "bargain prices" that are temptingly low. Clerks frequently urge you to try something "just as good" as the dependable brands you know and ask for.

But it takes more than a low price to make a bargain! More than a clerk's promise to give you quality!

The SAFE bargains to buy now are the products made by manufacturers who have reputations to uphold. Brands which you KNOW—either through your own experience or by their advertising.

Remember this whenever you shop: "Just-as-good" brands must usually be MADE CHEAPER to sell for such a cheap price. All too frequently, the only reason they are urged upon you is because they pay maker and dealer more profit than other products which are better known and of better quality.

And don't forget this: Many of the familiar, reliable brands now cost less than they have in years. But only the PRICE is lower. QUALITY is still high.

Think of these things, and look at the name as well as the price when you buy. Ask for what you want. And insist on getting what you ask for. Then you will always be sure of full value for every penny you spend.

Chicago's World Fair Expected to Draw 50 Million in Five-Month Run

Here is one of the many odd buildings at Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition. This huge structure, the Travel and Transport building, has a "breathing dome," suspended by steel cables without a single pillar to support it.

THE greatest world fair in history, the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition opening in Chicago May 27 is expected to draw an attendance of 50,000,000 persons during its five months of existence.

Though the story of the world's progress since the ages began is told in numerous ingenious exhibits, the emphasis is placed upon the progress made by mankind in the last 100 years.

Visitors will be amazed by the unique, fascinating architecture of the fair's buildings, queerly-shaped affairs which reflect the futuristic ideas of the architects who designed them.

One of these buildings—a massive red-and-gold octagon-shaped structure—has a great "breathing dome." Steel cables from above support this dome, and thus it rises or descends a foot or two as the heat of the day or the cool of the night causes the cables to expand or contract.

Historic structures have been reproduced in exact detail. There are replicas of an ancient Mayan temple; of the Great Golden Pavilion of Jehol, the finest example of Chinese Lama architecture, built by Manchu emperors in 1767; of old Fort Dearborn, first building on the site of Chicago, which was the scene of a bloody massacre in 1812.

There are also reproductions of an American coal mine, an African diamond mine, buildings that played important parts in Abraham Lincoln's boyhood, and a model Hollywood studio, in which actual movies will be produced.

IN one of the most ingenious exhibits, a "Clock of the Ages" ticks off the history of the earth. A gigantic ball arises from water, and as it does the water drains off, leaving miniature oceans in dents in the ball. Green, representing vegetation, next appears. Glaciers creep up on the ball and recede, leaving gaps in the "earth's" surface, which become lakes.

FIERCE snarls and roars greet the visitor as he enters a huge globular building. Inside, he will gasp in awe as a huge mammoth moves clumsily about, trumpeting its wrath, as saber-tooth tigers creep along and giant gorillas lumber through a dense jungle. Motors and sound-making devices produce the life-like noise and motion, it is true, but the visitor is thrilled just the same.

Another series of exhibits portrays the evolution of travel and transportation from the stage-coach and pony express rider down to the airplanes and giant engines of the present day.

In the scientific division, visitors will see 5,000,000-volt lightning manufactured before their eyes. They will learn how drops of liquid come to be round, how starlight is reflected, how electrons chase each other around an atom, how ether was first used, how electricity is generated and was first harnessed.

They will observe a machine "rusting" a piece of steel in one second as much as weather would in 10 years. And they will be amazed when the resulting rust, with the aid of another machine, is transformed back into steel.

They will see water being burned as electricity separates the hydrogen from the oxygen, and the hydrogen burns from a jet. And they will view thousands of other marvels equally interesting.

• • •

THE exposition, which celebrates the 100th anniversary of Chicago, is intended to show particularly the progress made since that city was an Indian-ridden frontier village.

On the whole, the exhibits are designed as a graphic demonstration of how mankind has arrived at its present stage and afford a glimpse into the future.

Roosevelt's 'New Deal' Is Rapidly Being Effected, Record Shows

IN the three months that he has been in office, President Roosevelt has made tremendous progress in carrying out the program that his party adopted at the Chicago convention last June.

The Democratic "New Deal" platform on which he was elected contained 17 planks. On four of these—government economy, a balanced budget, farm relief and prohibition repeal—action has already been taken by the president and ratified by Congress. By slashing federal salaries and reducing veterans' compensation and pension payments, the president has already made a potential saving of $500,000,000 a year. And it seems certain that this will be raised to $1,100,000,000 after departmental reorganizations and eliminations have been made. By cutting expenditures, and providing new sources of revenue, the president has been able to promise a balanced budget within the year.

Congress has passed a prohibition repeal resolution which puts repeal up to the states, and legalized beer by amendments to the Volstead act. It has approved farm legislation providing for reductions in acreage and output, with compensation to farmers for land withdrawn from cultivation; taxing of processors; marketing control; farm mortgage refinancing; inflation, and replacement of the various farm credit agencies by a single Farm Credit Administration.

STEPS are under way to fulfill five more of Mr. Roosevelt's pre-election promises, those dealing with the tariff; unemployment relief; national defense; protection of investors and banking reform.

On the tariff question, President Roosevelt has proposed a "tariff truce" with Great Britain and other governments, and is expected to get from Congress authority to increase or decrease tariff rates. Such authority should greatly aid the United States in its negotiations at the world economic conference, designed to restore international trade and facilitate exchange.

To aid the jobless, the Roosevelt reforestation program, aimed to provide work for 250,000 men, has already begun. Moreover, a direct grant to the states of half a billion dollars for relief work and a national work program to mobilize private business along with public enterprise, are both under way. Congress also has passed a bill calling for the development of Muscle Shoals and the Tennessee River Valley.

To carry out the platform promise of an adequate national defense which will not burden the people too much financially, the president is contemplating a cut of at least $144,000,000 in army and navy appropriations. These and other military economies are, however, being postponed pending formal or informal understandings with other powers.

The so-called "national blue-sky law," expected to go into effect soon, is designed to protect the investing public by requiring full publicity for securities that are offered for sale and by regulation of holding companies, utility companies and exchanges.

Banking reform bills, now pending, are expected to furnish a permanent remedy for banking ills. They will supplement the emergency measures brought forth in the recent crisis.

INDIRECTLY, President Roosevelt has carried out other Democratic party vows. The emergency bank legislation, though passed in an emergency, met the promise of "a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards." The Tennessee River Valley proposal and the reforestation program have a bearing on the plank vowing "federal conservation, development and use of the nation's water power in the public interest." And the gigantic plan for the remobilization of private industry covers the plank promising "to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices."

Some of the pledges which remain unfulfilled are: unemployment and old age insurance, under state laws; statehood for Puerto Rico; simplification of legal procedure and reorganization of the judicial system to make justice speedy, sure and less costly; publicity for political contributions and expenditures which would strengthen the corrupt practices act and provide severe penalties for misappropriation of campaign funds.

CHURCH MELTING POT CAMPAIGN STARTS SUNDAY

The First Baptist Church is conducting a Church Melting Pot campaign, beginning this Sunday and continuing over the two following Sundays. For the benefit of those who may not be familiar with this unique and unusual, but thoroughly scriptural plan for securing funds for church purposes, we offer a brief explanation.

There is in every household a source of revenue which is of little value to the individual, but collectively will mean much to the church. "The whole plan of the campaign," says Rev. J. R. Hicks, pastor of the church, "is to aid in carrying the word of God, and without asking any burdensome contributions from the members. Every family, every home, has somewhere, some unused articles of silver, or gold, or containing other precious metals, that alone would yield hardly enough to trouble about selling; but if, say, a hundred or more families would all put such articles in a common pot, and the sum total then smelted and refined, at least some fair figure would be the result.

"That is the plan in a nutshell. Bring in the battered silverware, the single cuff button, the old earring, the unused spectacle frames. Our committee will turn them into account."

Girl Scouts In Week's Trip to Amarillo Camp

Twenty-six Girl Scouts, accompanied by their captain, Miss Lois Goodrich, returned Saturday night from a four day stay at Camp Kiwanis, near Amarillo. The days were spent in nature study, archery, practice in signalling, fire-building, trail blazing, and cooking, singing, folk-dancing, games, and swimming.

Each day Amarillo women took the girls from their camp to Gem Lake for swimming. Five of the girls passed the swimming tests for first class Scout badges, and three learned to swim.

The Bourn Dairy furnished milk and a truck in which to carry the supplies, and the American Legion Auxiliary paid the expenses of the truck to and from camp.

On Thursday the girls in camp entertained the Wranglers, an adult scout organization, which trains college girls for Scout leadership. Miss Hattie M. Anderson was guest of honor. On Friday the mothers of the girls were entertained.

The girls who went on the camp were Mary Ella Lowe, Mary Ella Davis, Sarah Bonnie Bourn, Louise Ashby, Mary McCaslin, Vera Brown, Ruby Foster, Robbie Foster, Fredda Charles Bills, Juanita Phillips, Mary Lee West, Billie Greenfield, Sarah Thompson, Fay Plaster, Dell Bagley, Mavis Hardin, Martha Jo Newlin, Mary Collins, Mildred Shuman, Beulah Brasuel, Rena Beth Bellah, Mary Kathrine Wirt, Nola Margaret Blue, Bonnie B. Dickenson, and Carolyn Mayfield.

This is the first official scout camp which has ever been held for Canyon girls.

SOME WHEAT LOOKS GOOD TO THE SOUTHEAST

J. J. Bauer was in the city Monday on business and states that some of the wheat in his section is looking good, with the prospects of a fair yield. The rains of the past week started the wheat to growing rapidly.

The southeast section of the county seems to have better prospects for wheat than any part of the county. A few early rains fell in that section which did not hit the balance of the county.

Prepare for the Good Old Summer Time

BY HARRIET

WHEN summer's sun begins to tan your face and hands, your thoughts should turn at once to beach and vacation clothes. You know that vacation rays are close at hand and there isn't a woman who isn't aware of the fact that the right clothes make a vacation right.

Whether you are planning to spend week-ends and a vacation on the beach, in the country near a lake or on a farm where there isn't a body of water you will still need beach clothes which do double duty. They are fine for sun baths and lounging as well as for honest-to-goodness wear on a beach near the ocean.

To take off the clothes which you are accustomed to wearing and don gay-colored, wide-bottomed trousers is to know the real meaning of relaxation and hence, a real vacation.

You have a variety of styles and an even larger variety of materials and colors from which to choose your beach ensembles this year. Many stores are showing beach dresses instead of pajamas. These little backless frocks of linen, cotton crash, broadcloth and many other cotton materials are usually made wrap-around fashion. Slipping a dress on over your head might ruin your coiffure or taking it off in that manner might make you be the last one into the water. So beach dresses are free from hooks or snaps and are simply wrapped around your body and tied up on one side.

Pajamas for vacations are handsome this summer. They may be three-piece affairs with trousers, blouse and little jacket. The blouse is pretty apt to be backless and sleeveless so you keep the jacket nearby to be slipped on when you have enough sun for that day.

There are many models of that old standby, the one-piece pajama, and plenty of two-piece outfits with pants and little polo-type shirts that tuck in.

Pastel colors have no place in the sun on the beach. Go in for the brightest reds, oranges, greens and blues which you can find. Checks, plaids and stripes are more in evidence than plain colors.

Beach accessories are important too. If you must wear a hat get one that tops off your costume in admirable manner. Big ones are smart as ever. But little ones are creeping into prominence too. They should be gay, pert little flippant things which are in keeping with what a vacation should be.

THE pajamas on the left are of natural crash. The wide bottomed trousers and little polo shirt which tucks in have a casualness about them which makes you want to get your two weeks early.

The belt and diminutive bow tie are of striped linen and glass bracelets match the colors in the belt and tie. The hat is small and round, rests high on the head and is trimmed with a gay little tassel at the peak of the crown.

The other pajama suit is three-piece, of Indian cotton plaid print. The wide trousers with deep yoke at the hips fasten up over a smart little white blouse which is backless. The bolero jacket has a fluting of self material around the neck and bottom and tiny cape sleeves cover up shoulders when the sun gets too hot.

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES
Member of Congress
From Texas

One of the most important phases of work in Congressional committees during recent years is the investigation now being conducted before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

Already a number of facts have been brought to light concerning the international banking establishment of J. P. Morgan & Co., which has come to be looked upon by the American people in an almost legendary light because of its great power in the financial world.

The outcome of this investigation, which will embrace not only the Morgan interests but other big banking institutions as well, will no doubt result in beneficial legislation which will enable the federal government to strengthen its control over the money and credit of the nation. It may also lead to further banking reform and to the strengthening of other laws as well. Work along this line has already been started.

An example of the inadequacy of present statutes can be found the testimony that J. P. Morgan gave to the Senate investigating committee, in which he said that he paid no income taxes during 1931 and 1932, and very little in 1930. However, he did pay income taxes in England.

The American people may well be astonished by such a revelation. The fact that America's symbol of monied power paid no income tax is startling. Mr. Morgan explained this fact by saying that he had to partake of the losses of his company as well as the profits.

In this country capital losses are not taxable, while in Great Britain they cannot be deducted in making individual returns.

Another interesting revelation which has been made is the extensive control which the company has through its twenty partners. These partners hold eighteen directorships in banks and trust companies and 167 directorships in corporations.

These points are only a few examples of the many things which the Senate committee is learning, and as the hearings progress, more interesting developments are likely to result.

It is the intention of the investigators to bring into the open the practices of these private interests which have held such a grip on our economic structure.

If present laws have been violated, punishment should follow immediately. If the laws have been evaded by various methods, then they must be tightened and revised to insure justice to every American citizen.

No matter what the final outcome of the investigation may be,, already the little individual has come to realize how insignificant he is in the midst of this enormous centralization of holdings and control.

The balance must be restored, and the irregularities must be corrected.

With Stiffer Opposition This Year, the Chances of U. S. C. Copping the I. C. A. A. A. A. Title Again Seem Dubious

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THERE'LL be Norman Paul, hurdler; Bill Graber, pole vaulter; Bob Van Osdel and Duncan McNaughton, high jumpers; Ed Albowich, quarter-miler; Hueston Harper, shot putter, and Charley Parsons, sprinter, from Southern California—and there'll be Les Hables, sprinter; Laborde, Gray and Dunn, weightmen; Ben Eastman, middle distance man; Bill Miller, pole vaulter, and Lloyd Schween, high jumper, from Stanford.

With such an array of track and field stars, the Pacific coast figures to sweep the I. C. 4-A meet at Boston, May 26 and 27. But there'll be a lot of boys from the east and middlewest who'll have plenty of "naying" to say.

• • •

LAST year Southern California walked off with the meet. But this year the Trojans are not only faced with stiffer opposition from the east and middlewest, but they are bucking up against one of the strongest Stanford squads "Dink" Templeton ever coached. If Stanford can pare a few points from the Trojans' total, and the boys from the east can do the same, Southern California is due to fall.

The east's chief competition in the races this year will be furnished by Keith Brown and Wirt Thompson, pole vaulters from Yale; Carl Warner, Yale's great 440 man; George Spitz, N. Y. U. high jumper; Hardy of Cornell, and Howard Jones, of Penn, sprinters; Calvin, Harvard's great broad jumper; Schaefer of Penn and Bonthron of Princeton, middle distance runners; Werntz, Colgate's javelin star; John Dean, Harvard's discus man, and a bunch of other boys.

The middlewest will put up Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette sprinter; Jack Keller, Ohio State's crack hurdler; Willis Ward, Michigan's sprinter; Dean Woolsey, Illinois miler; Charley Hornbostel, Indiana half-miler; Duane Purvis, Purdue javelin thrower, and other star performers who have been developed during the early track season.

TWO duels which will be interesting to watch will center around the east-west pole vault and high jump competition.

Two athletes who'll be watched in the I. C. 4-A meet this year are Bill Graber, above, Southern California pole vaulter, and Duncan McNaughton, below, winner of the Olympic high jump last year. Graber, who set a new pole vault mark recently, and McNaughton are shown above doing their stuff.

Bill Graber, of Southern California, recently set a mark in the vault, and Bill Miller, the Stanford ace, won that event in the Olympics last year. Their chief threat will be Keith Brown, the Yale sophomore who has cleared 14 feet several times in his brief career.

McNaughton and Van Osdel were first and second in the Olympic high jump last year, the former clearing 6 feet 5⅝ inches. These two will fight it out with George Spitz, who holds the indoor record for the event with a leap of 6 feet 8¼ inches.

WHAT DOES THE AVERAGE MAN READ?

What does the average man read?

Attempting to answer this question The American Newspaper Publishers' Association canvassed the reading habits of a representative group.

The results indicated that men average forty-five minutes a day reading newspapers, twenty-five minutes a day on magazines and one-half of the men average less than one book a month.

In other words men spend twice as much time on magazines as on books and five times as much on newspapers. This ought to be interesting to those who advertise.

From the standpoint of culture the radio may be deplored, but in the present day of better newspapers the columns contain much that is neither trivial or ephemeral. —News, Heron Lake, Minnesota.

KEEP ON GOING

A remarkable example of the spirit of aggressiveness of American business in meeting the exigencies of depression is found in the progress made by the share-the-work movement.

Its list of sponsors reads like a blue book of industry. A single participant has put 50,000 more people to work in his plants and offices by sharing the work. Another has given work and a livelihood to 35,000. Hundreds of otner great industries have, in the same manner, lifted the burden of want from thousands of the unemployed.

But share-the-work must have the aid of the smaller business if it is to succeed as it should. We hear much of industries that employ a thousand or ten thousand or more workers—but these industries are few and far between. The great bulk of unemployment stems from concerns employing a dozen, or a hundred, or several hundred people. These businesses too must share-the-work. They must stretch one job into two—if distress due to unemployment is to be banished.

At the moment there are between ten and twelve million unemployed in this country. Millions of them can be given the self-respect that comes with a job by further effort in the work-sharing direction. A recent report indicates that a total of about 1,100,000 people have been given wok in this manner—let's hope that record is dwarfed in the months to come.

How times do change! A few years ago the business man with a ragged suit found little patronage—"he's not a success, we can't do business with him." Today, we're a bit skeptical of the too-well dressed man and the raggedy-merchant is considered the "shrewd fellow, the one we can trust for good values." There's a happy medium however—don't be deceived.—Chronicle, Weston, Mo.

Penny Behind Fuse Causes FIRE!

PORTALES, N. M., May 4.—Placing a penny behind the light fuse caused a fire last Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Willie Smith at the corner of East State and Second streets.

When the house began filling with smoke the fire department was immediately called and it extinguished the flames before much damage was done.

A short in a wire leading to the bathroom had blown the fuse the day before and when members of the family came home Friday evening and found the house in darkness pennies were inserted behind the old fuses.

The public is cautioned by the local power company and the fire department against the practice of using pennies back of the fuses, as it is extremely dangerous and will result in the loss of much property by fire.

Fuses offer you protection . . . but not when used in the above named manner. Keep a supply of Fuses on hand . . . the cost is very low.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding thereto a section to be Section 3, which shall provide:

"Section 3. (1) Holding the belief that the highest degree of local self government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those affairs by necessity lodged in the Nation and the State will prove most responsive to the will of the people, and result to reward their diligence and intelligence by greater economy and efficiency in their local governmental affairs, it hereby is ordained:

"(2). Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the then last Federal Census may adopt a County Home Rule Charter, to embrace those powers appropriate hereto, within the specific limitations hereinafter provided. It further is provided that the Legislature, by a favoring vote of two-thirds of the total membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, may authorize any county, having a population less than that above specified, to proceed hereunder for the adoption of a Charter; however, as a condition for such authorization, it is required that notice of intent to seek Legislative authority hereunder must be published in one or more newspapers, to give general circulation in the county affected, not less than once per week for four (4) consecutive weeks, and the first of such publications shall appear not less than thirty (30) days next prior to the time an Act making proposal hereunder may be introduced in the Legislature. No County Home Rule Charter may be adopted by any county save upon a favoring vote of the resident qualified electors of the affected county. In elections submitting to the voters a proposal to adopt a Charter (unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature) the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept but collectively counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted, and unless there be a favoring majority of the votes cast within and a favoring majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the Charter shall not be adopted. It is expressly forbidden that any such Charter may inconsonantly affect the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems, or any other department of the State's superior government. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the adoption of a Charter provision inimical to or inconsistent with the sovereignty and established public policies of this State, and no provision having such vice shall have validity as against the State. No Charter provision may operate to impair the exemption of homesteads as established by this Constitution and the Statutes relating thereto.

"(3) a. A Charter hereunder may provide: the continuance of a County Commissioners' Court, as now constituted, to serve as the governing body of a county to operate hereunder; or may provide for a governing body otherwise constituted, which shall be elective, and service therein shall be upon such qualifications, for such terms, under such plan of representation, and upon such conditions of tenure and compensation as may be fixed by any such Charter. The terms for service in such governing body may exceed two (2) years, but shall not exceed six (6) years. In any event, in addition to the powers and duties provided by such Charter, such governing body shall exercise all powers, and discharge all duties which, in the absence of the provisions hereof, would devolve by law on County Commissioners and County Commissioners' Courts. Further, any such Charter may provide for the organization, reorganization, establishment and administration of the government of the county, including the control and regulation of the performance of and the compensation for all duties required in the conduct of the county affairs, subject to the limitations herein provided.

"b. A Charter hereunder may provide that Judges of County Courts (including that County Court designated in this Constitution), and Justice of the Peace be compensated upon a salary basis in lieu of fees. The jurisdiction of the County Court designated in this constitution, and the duties of the Judges thereof, may be confined to that general jurisdiction of a probate Court which elsewhere is defined in this Constitution. The office of Justice of the Peace may be made either elective or appointive. Other than as herein provided, no such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of District Attorney and or County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases to which the State is a party and to enforcement of the State's Penal Code, and the compensation of said attorneys may be fixed on a salary basis in lieu of fees.

"c. Save as hereinbefore and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charters, within the limits expressed therein, may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder with the power to create, consolidate or abolish any office or department, whether created by other provisions of the Constitutions or by statute, define the duties thereof, fix the compensation for service therein, make the same elective or appointive and prescribe the time, qualifications and conditions for tenure in any such office; save, that no such Charter other than as hereinbefore authorized, shall provide to regulate the status, service, duties or compensation of members of the Legislature, Judges of the Courts, District Attorneys, County Attorneys, or any office whatever by the law of the State required to be filled by an election embracing more than one county. Excepting herefrom nominations, elections or appointments to offices, the terms whereof may not have expired prior to the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, at such time as a Charter provision adopted hereunder may be in effect (save as to those offices which must continue to be elective, as herein elsewhere specified), all terms of county officers and all contracts for the giving of service by deputies under such officers, may be subject to termination by the administrative body of the county, under an adopted Charter so providing, and there shall be no liability by reason thereof.

"d. Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes to be levied for specific purposes, in accordance with the Constitution and laws of this State, provided, however, that the limit of the aggregate taxes which may be levied, assessed and collected hereunder shall not exceed the limit or total fixed, or hereafter to be fixed, by this Constitution to control counties, and the annual assessment upon property, both real, personal and mixed, shall be a first superior and prior lien thereon.

"e. In addition to the powers herein provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters, any county may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights which now or hereafter may be provided by this Constitution and the statutes of the State for counties.

"(4). Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt, in a manner conforming to the General Laws of the State, and may issue therefor its obligations. Such obligations, other than those to refund a lawful debt, shall not be valid unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by those resident qualified voter of the area affected by the taxes required to retire such obligations, who may vote thereon. In case of county obligations, maturing after a period of five (5) years, the same shall be issued to mature serially, fixing the first maturity of principal at a time not to exceed two (2) years next after the date of the issuance of such obligations. Such obligations may pledge the full faith and credit of the county; but in no event shall the aggregate obligations so issued, in principal amount outstanding at any one time, exceed the then existing Constitutional limits for such obligations and such indebtedness and its supporting tax shall constitute a first and superior lien upon the property taxable in such county. No obligation issued hereunder shall be valid unless prior to the time of the issuance thereof there be levied a tax sufficient to retire the same as it matures, which tax shall not exceed the then existing Constitutional limits.

"(5). Such Charter may authorize the governing body of a county operating hereunder to prescribe the schedule of fees to be charged by the officers of the county for specified service, to be in lieu of the schedule for such fees prescribed by the General Laws of the State; and, to appropriate such fees to such funds as the Charter may prescribe; provided, however, no fee for a specified service shall exceed in amount the fee fixed by General Law for that same service. Such Charters as to all judicial officers, other than District Judges, may prescribe the qualifications for services, provided the standards therefor be not lower than those fixed by the General Laws of the State.

"(6) a. Subject to the express limitations upon the exercise of the powers by this subdivision to be authorized, such Charters may provide (or omit to provide) that the governmental and- or proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision (which is a governmental agency and embraced within the boundaries of the county) be transferred, either as to some or all of the functions thereof, and yielded to the control of the administrative body of the county. No such transfer or yielding of functions may be effected, unless the proposal is submitted to a vote of the people, and, unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each House of the Legislature, such a proposal shall be submitted as a separate issue, and the vote within and without any such city, town, district, or other defined governmental entity, shall be separately cast and counted, and unless two-thirds of the qualified votes cast within the yielding defined governmental entity, and a majority of the qualified votes cast in the remainder of the county, favor the proposed merger, it shall not be effected. In case of the mergers hereby authorized, without express Charter provision therefor, in so far as may be required to make effective the object of the proposed merger, the county shall succeed to all the appropriate lawful powers, duties, rights, procedures, restrictions and limitations which prior to the merger were reposed in, or imposed upon, the yielding governmental agency. Particularly, it is provided that the power to create funded indebtedness and to levy taxes in support thereof may be exercised only by such procedures, and within such limits, as now are, or hereafter may be, provided by law to control such appropriate other governmental agencies were they to be independently administered. Such mergers may be effected under proposed contracts between the county and any such yielding governmental agency, to be approved at an election as hereinbefore provided for. In order to increase governmental efficiency and effect economy the county may contract with the principal city of the county to perform one or more of its functions, provided such contracts shall not be valid for more than two (2) years.

"b. In cases of the partial or complete merger of the government of a city operating under a Home Rule Charter, with the government of a county operating hereunder, those city Charter provisions affected thereby shall cease to control, and the county Charter provisions shall control.

"c. When any embraced incorporated city or town elects to merge its governmental functions with those of the county under the provisions hereof, such Charter may provide for defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, provided, however, that in defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, such boundaries may be extended only to include those areas contiguous to such cities as are urban in character; and as to such cities or towns and for the benefit thereof the county, in addition to the primary city and county tax herein authorized and any other lawful district tax, may levy and collect taxes upon the property taxable within such city or town as defined or redefined, within the limits authorized by Sections 4 and 5 of Article XI of this Constitution, (or any Amendment thereof) for incorporated cities according to the population, provided that no tax greater than that existing at the time of such merger or for any added purpose shall be imposed upon any such city or town unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by the resident qualified voters of such city or town.

"d. Areas urban in character though not incorporated, under appropriate Charter provision may be defined as such by the governing body of the county, provided, however, that no portion of the county shall be defined as an urban area unless it has sufficient population to entitle it to incorporate under the then existing laws of the State; and no such urban area, when created, shall be vested with any taxing or bonding power which it would not possess if it were operating as a separate incorporated unit under the then existing Constitutional and Statutory provisions of this State; and provided further that the governing body of the county for the government of such areas shall have and exercise all powers and authority granted by law to the governing bodies of similar areas when separately incorporated as a city or town, and such areas shall be subject to additional taxation within the same Constitutional limits as control taxation for a city or a town of like population. Likewise such Charter may provide for the governing board of the county subject to existing Constitutional and statutory provisions to define, create and administer districts, and have and exercise the powers and authority granted by the Constitution and laws relative to the same.

"(7). No provision of this Constitution inconsonant with the provisions of this Section 3, of Article IX, shall be held to control the provisions of a Charter adopted hereunder, and conforming herewith. Charters adopted hereunder shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, and amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favoring majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal, by the qualified resident electors of the county; and, no Charter may forbid amendments thereof for a time greater than two (2) years. The provisions hereof shall be self-executing, subject only to the duty of the Legislature to pass all laws (consistent with) which may be necessary to carry out the intent and purpose hereof. Further, the Legislature shall prescribe a procedure for submitting to decision, by a majority vote of the electors voting thereon, proposed alternate and elective Charter provisions."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1933, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more sufficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

"Against the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein."

Each voter shall scratch out one of the above listed clauses on such ballot, leaving unscratched that particular clause which expresses his vote on the proposed Amendment to which it relates.

Section 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth shall be adopted, and the Governor shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

FIGHT THE ROAD HOG

"The more I see of the highway traffic problem, the more I study the causes of motor vehicle accidents, the more I am convinced that . . . the trouble back of it all can be summed up in two words—'road hogging'" said an officer of the Minnesota Highway Department some time ago.

Road hogging has many phases. Driving to the left of the center of the highway, fighting for right-of-way at intersections, passing on curves or hills, making turns without proper signaling, parking on the highway, cutting in and out of moving lanes of traffic, passing street cars which are discharging or receiving passengers—these are the acts of the road hog. Their result is, each year, thousands of unnecessary deaths, hundreds of thousands of injuries, millions of dollars in property damage.

The whole automobile accident problem really revolves about selfishness and discourtesy on the road. For every intentionally reckless driver, there are a dozen with an inteire disregard for the rights of others. They apparently believe that the highways were built for them, and it behooves every other motorist to keep out of their way. They fail in the first obligation of every driver—to learn how to operate a car efficiently before venturing onto the public roads and streets, and then to meet every motorist half-way in making those streets and roads safe.

The cure for the road hog is two-fold—a vigilant, well-trained traffic patrol, enforcing up-to-date laws, and unremitting educational efforts directed at the driver. The automobile accident problem can be solved—but only direct action, on a national scale, will do the work.

THE MOTORIST'S ATTITUDE

Tremendous progress has been made in raising the safety standards of industry. Much of this, of course, is due to better guarding of machinery, and patented safety devices. Of still greater importance is an attitude of mind that progressive industries have developed in their workers—the attitude that takes no chances and thinks before it acts. That has been the principal cause of fewer and less severe industrial mishaps.

The solution of the highway accident problem is much the same. It lies in making the motorist realize his responsibility, to make him act on the highways as he wants others to act. Care, competence and courtesy are the trinity of automobile accident prevention. Their violation is responsible for ninety per cent of accidents.

The time is always ripe for campaigns to thus educate the motorist. Such campaigns should be continuous, as they are in industry. They should be intensive and well directed. Last year we lowered the automobile accident rate a trifle—this year every driver should make it his personal business to create a real safety record.

Spring fever never registers on the thermometer.

"Thunder Beast" Breathes Again at World's Fair

Portion of the Sinclair Prehistoric Exhibit at the World's Fair—the first attempt ever to reproduce out of doors the conditions of life as they existed a hundred million years ago.

CALLED "Thunder Beast" by scientists because the ground trembled under his 40-ton tread, the brawny Brontosaurus will "breathe" and "live again" at the Chicago World's Fair.

P. G. Alen, of Fort Wayne and Hollywood, dinosaur-maker extraordinary to the motion-picture industry, was commissioned by the Sinclair Refining Company to recreate these odd forms of life that roamed the earth millions of years ago while Nature was mellowing and filtering the crude oil from which today's motor oils are refined.

Indian Pictures Being Shown at History Museum

A new art exhibit will be placed in the Mary E. Hudspeth Room of the Museum Friday and can be seen by visitors on Sunday.

This exhibit consists of fifty prints of pictures by Indian Artists of Taos, San Idelfonso and Santa Clara Pueblos, New Mexico. The prints, which can hardly be distinguished from originals, were made at Nice, France.

These Indian pictures are characterized by brilliant coloring. The subjects are Indian symbols, animals, and dancing figures. The latter are especially interesting because of the feeling of rhythmic motion which is had from the pictures, while symbols give an acquaintance with the Indian's religious and political life.

In contrast with these prints will be exhibited a collection of prints of pictures by Frederic Remington. These were placed in the Museum recently by Col. R. P. Smyth of Plainview. Remington was the first American artist of note to successfully depict and interpret frontier life, his Indian and cowboy pictures being famous thruout the world.

Today is the last day to see the senior art exhibit, including etchings, water colors and oils by Josie Wiggins, Beth June Blythe, James Bandy, Mrs. Gordon McCarty, Jewell Gibbs, Mildred Bishop, Lucile Burrows, and Beatrice Fulton. This exhibit has been seen by several hundred people, many of whom have been interested in the subjects used while others have found the technique more important. Miss Isabelle Robinson hung the senior exhibit as well as that of prints which mill be next seen.

MEMBERS OF COX FAMILY IN COLLEGE

The family of G. R. Cox has an unusual record on college attendance this year. A daughter, Annie Belle and a son, Bowen, are members of the senior class. Jack Cox and Ruth Cox are freshmen, and for part of the year J. J. Cox has been enrolled as a special student. A cousin, Howard Cox, is also a senior. This is an unusual number from one family to be doing work at the same time.

Jesse James Rifle Presented Museum By Newt Rough

A rifle, once used in the home of Jesse James, has just been given the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society by Newt Rough of Canyon. The rifle, made in 1834, was given to him by Jesse James' mother in 1897, when she was living at Carney, Missouri.

At that time Gen. J. J. Pershing was a country school teacher, rooming in the home of Mr. Rough. The rifle was borrowed from Mrs. James in order that Pershing, already versed in military tactics, might give instruction to Mr. Rough.

Mr. Rough also presented the museum a double-barrelled shot gun used by his grandfather, Charles Diamond, who pioneered near Crabapple, Kentucky.

Commencement

Sunday morning the Methodist Student Federation, under the guidance of Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, honored the Methodist members of the senior class with a breakfast to which all seniors were invited. This is an annual affair.

Monday evening the usual Commencement Concert was given, with the Buffalo Band under the direction of Professor Charles E. Strain.

Tuesday evening the College Chorus and Orchestra, directed by Professor Wallace R. Clark, honored campus visitors with a concert. The Haydn 'Surprise Symphony" by the orchestra composed half the program, and the "Peace Pipe," cantata for Chorus and Orchestra finished it. Carl York was soloist, and C. W. Batchelder reader for this part of the program.

Wednesday was given over to examinations and small private parties.

Class of Unusual Interest

When Dr. Bradford Knapp faced the senior class this morning, he found an unusually interesting group. This is the largest spring class ever graduated by the West Texas State Teachers College. There are 56 women and 25 men in the class.

The youngest member of the class is Miss Fadean Lee of Silverton, who is not yet 18; the eldest members are 51. The average for the women is 26.5 and for the men 24.

The eldest member and the youngest of the family of Mrs. W. E. Foster of Bishop, Texas are in this class. Estill Foster, the son, is a history major, and Mrs. Lela Moudy, the daughter, is a primary major. Both have outstanding records.

Another brother and sister are Hadley and Ester Reeve of Friona, Texas, majors of the departments of mathematics and intermediate education. Annie Belle Cox and Bowen Cox, brother and sister of Canyon, are members of the class; five members of this family were enrolled in the college at one time during this session.

Lillian Davis, music major, is the first daughter of an ex-student of the college to receive its degree. Dr. J. A. Hill spoke of her as "The first college grandchild."

In the group of students receiving the Master of Arts Degree are a husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Walrabenstein of Amarillo. Mr. Walrabenstein is an able musician, and his wife is an artist of much more than average ability.

Ex-Student Luncheon

Following the graduation, exstudents who have been swarming the campus for five days, met at Cousins Hall for a luncheon, welcoming the class of 1933 to the fellowship of off-campus supporters of their Alma Mater. Malcolm Hunt, vice-president of the class of 1931 was toastmaster, with Dr. R. P. Jarrett, substituting for Dr. J. A. Hill, furnishing the only address on the program. Miss Frances Usery, pianist, was a representative of this year's class on the program.

As the last strains of Alma Mater died away the students and exstudents departed for their homes representing thirty-three different communities in Texas, as widely separated as Texline and Corpus Christi and Booker and Rockwall. With their going the college authorities begin preparation for the summer session which will open June 5.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

When the Two Maxes Tangle for a Chance at the Heavyweight Title, Your Correspondent Figures It Will Be a "Baer Market"

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IF, after the depression put you through the mill, you have enough of this world's riches to risk a couple of bucks, go out and place them on the beezer of Max Baer to beat Max Schmeling in their heavyweight bout June 8. For dear old Philip is picking the former California butcher boy to beat the Black Uhlan from the Rhine—and Philip's guesses are notorious.

Schmeling, the former champion, who lost his crown by a disputed decision to Jack Sharkey, and Baer will be battling for the right to meet the winner of the Sharkey-Carnera title bout, to be staged later in the month—and it is our guess that it will be Baer.

The battle of the Maxes will bring together two different types of fighters. Baer the playboy, who prances, fusses and exchanges pleasantries with spectators while in the ring; and Schmeling, the cool, crafty plodder from Germany who is all work in the arena.

• • •

SCHMELING has been going great since his debut in America. Baer, on the other hand, climbed the ladder rapidly, sunk into a big slump, and then came back to score a list of victories so impressive that he was picked as the most likely heavy in the country. And it is that marvelous comeback which makes your correspondent believe the beetle-browed Schmeling will be stopped by the grizzly Baer. For when Baer is good, he is very, very good.

We saw Baer in his first climb up the ladder. He fought Johnny Risko in Cleveland at the time and, while he was waving his hands to friends in the gallery, the busy Bohemian baker boy blasted out a decision.

Schmeling's fight with Risko was just the opposite. It was a real battle which saw Johnny ahead until the closing rounds. Max, cool and crafty, kept his peace until he saw his opening. Bang! And there was Johnny on the floor, goofy. Johnny said after the fight that he didn't know what hit him.

• • •

BUT despite the records of these two boys in their fighting with Risko, we still see Baer the winner.

Baer will outweigh Schmeling by quite a few pounds. This would be a disadvantage to any other opponent of Schmeling. The California boy's pounds are exceptionally fast, and he'll need plenty of speed to keep going with the German.

Baer's big handicap is his impressive list of managers. There are a dozen or so of them, Ancil Hoffman heading the list. But with all their divvying of his dough, the big boy has plenty to spend—and he does. He has owned more classy cars than you could wear out in the ordinary garage.

Baer, happy-go-lucky and fast—Schmeling, cool, calm and collected. That just about sizes up the bout before the boys get into the ring.

Valuable Relics Deposited in Museum from Floydada

Professor L. F. Sheffy of the College, and Field Secretary for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum, visited the O'd Timers Reunion at Floydada Monday and brought back with him some very interesting articles for the Museum.

W. A. Ground, of Floydada, deposited an 85 year old muzzle loading rifle, handmade throughout, which was formerly used in Tennessee. From the same man comes a broadax, fifty or more years old, used many years ago by pioneers in hewing logs for their homes.

Dating back the farm methods before the McCormick binder is a grain cradle, hand made. In earlier days this was the implement with which all wheat and other small grains were harvested. The handle of this cradle is made of a limb having exactly the right natural crooks. After the grain was cradled, it was tied in bundles, and finally threshed, often by hand.

Another Farm tool in this collection is a crude feed cutter, entirely hand made; it consists of a trough, held together by square hand shaped nails; the feed was pushed into one end of the trough, and a blade was pushed down upon it, cutting the stalks in pieces, after which they were dropped in a receptacle below.

A powderhorn and pouch, the latter sewed with leather strings and having handmade fringe, a spur used by Mr. Gound's father during the Civil war, a miner's lamp, and an Indian peace pipe of unusual material and design are included in the collection.

The pioneer household is represented also for there is a handmade bedspread which is more than 125 years old.

Glad Snodgrass, of Floydada, has presented a ledger opened in 1897 and closed in 1898 in the store of Snodgrass and Nelson at Floydada. An item noticed at random was "Butter, 2 lbs., 25c."

Papers received at the Museum from the same trip include The Floyd County Times, two copies of 1892 and one of October, 1896.

These newly acquired objects may be seen by visitors at the Museum any Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday afternoon.

Lone Sea Rover Back in U. S.

For years a lone rover of the seven seas, Capt. As captain, mate and crew of the little boat, Drake has visited many of the world's ports.
